

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ)

Subpart 3174

§ 3174.8(a)(2)

Question: When a flow computer with an RTD and temperature averaging capability is used does that satisfy the requirement to install a "temperature averager"?

Answer: Yes, a flow computer could work as a temperature averaging device as long as it meets the minimum requirements for the temperature averaging equipment.