BLM seeks proposals for off-range pastures for excess wild horses
Solicitation is open to proposals for facilities in 13 Plaines and Western states

As part of its mission to sustainably manage wild horses and burros on public lands, the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) announced today that it is seeking proposals for off-range pastures to provide a free-roaming environment and quality care for excess wild horses removed from Western public rangelands. The solicitation is open to proposals for facilities in Colorado, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming. The BLM may award multiple contracts that can accommodate 200 – 10,000 wild horses, with a four-year or nine-year renewal option.

Solicitation Proposals will be accepted starting June 2 – July 19, 2021
