

COME WORK WITH US!

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Colorado Office of Communications is seeking a Public Affairs Specialist for a SkillBridge opportunity.

The ideal Candidate would have developed digital media such as organization website, managed organization social media, and created content as a photographer & videographer. BLM is also seeking experience working as a spokesperson, as well as internal and external communication planning.

No job placement is promised at the end of the SkillBridge. However, with current Public Affairs Experience, Knowledge, Skills, and Abilities – coupled with a completed SkillBridge at BLM, the ideal candidate should be qualified for a target position of GS-1035, 7/9/11/12 once SkillBridge period ends!

What you will do:

- Analyze, research, plan, implement, and relate public land management and activities with BLM stakeholders including federal, state, local, media and public interest groups.
- Coordinate and conduct proactive outreach with federal, state, tribal and local government agencies; industry; non-governmental agencies, Resource Advisory Committee members; and/or other stakeholder groups.
- Serve as a primary point of contact for the development of Federal Register Notices and supporting communications material.

We are the BLM

BLM Colorado covers a lot of ground! We manage 8.3 million acres of public land and 27 million acres of the public's mineral estate in Colorado. BLM Colorado manages recreation, wild horses, wilderness, energy and mineral extraction, national monuments and national conservation areas.

The Office of Communications manages media relations, congressional relations, public relations, internal and external communications, as well as the BLM Colorado web site and social media.
