Planned Activities

House on Fire trailhead sign, featuring the site

House on Fire Trailhead: The House on Fire archeological site is one of the most heavily visited and iconic archeological sites in Bears Ears National Monument. The BLM has been awarded a grant from the State of Utah to support the development of a parking area, toilet, and educational signs at the House on Fire Trailhead to help protect the site. In October, the BLM will work with Bears Ears Partnership and the Ancestral Lands Corps to construct a trail to connect the new parking area to the current start of the trail to House in Fire. BLM engineers will complete work on the trailhead in winter and spring of 2025.
